Excellence in Saskatoon's Housing Industry Winners of the 25th Annual Bridges Awards

Saskatoon, SK (February 11, 2017) – The Saskatoon & Region Home Builders' Association presented the 25th Annual Bridges Awards at TCU Place on February 11, 2017. The Bridges Awards celebrate the achievements of SRHBA Members that continue to advance the goals of the residential construction industry and offer quality, affordability and choice in housing to consumers in the Saskatoon Region. Because each company who submits is competing against businesses who have already chosen to hold themselves to the highest levels of quality and professionalism, this is a best-of-the-best competition, and winners can be confident that they've set themselves apart to both consumers and their peers with truly excellent work. Awards were given out in a variety of categories including new home building, renovation and design, marketing, and service and innovation to the industry.

This year's Bridges Awards also marked an important milestone - 25 years of celebrating excellence in the residential construction industry in Saskatoon & Region. The 25th Annual Bridges Awards Gala celebrated not just this year's achievements, but also the achievements and impacts that SRHBA members have made over the past quarter century.

In particular, two members of the community were honoured with Ambassador Awards for their extensive contributions to the residential construction industry and to the Saskatoon & Region community as a whole. At the helm of Boychuk Construction Corporation is Ron Olson, whose company has impressively earned the right to be called the oldest company to be continuously in business in Saskatchewan. In his over 40 years in the industry, Ron has always made time to contribute to the industry, attend events, and give back to his community. Also receiving an Ambassador Award was former mayor Don Atchison, Saskatoon's longest-serving mayor and long-time advocate for growth and attainable housing in Saskatoon.

The complete list of winners can be found at saskatoonhomebuilders.com.

The Saskatoon and Region Home Builders' Association (SRHBA) is the voice of the residential construction industry in the Saskatoon region. The SRHBA works closely with municipal and provincial governments and with its members to improve affordability, quality and choice in the industry it represents.
